End of the Spurt

THIS YEAR'S SPURT IN CANAdian exports unfortunately has not lasted long. The latest figures show that our sales of goods abroad actually fell by 3.9 per cent in the second quarter of the year from last year's level. In the first quarter they had fisen by 22.8 per cent. This is not what the Government had expected when it forecast a growth of 6 per cent in our total production during 1960. In the first quarter the growth of less than 1 per cent was insignificant and, with an increasing population, provided no per capita growth at all. Whether any growth occurred in the second quarter is not yet known and it takes some time to compile the figures of the Gross National

But it is clear that the great exporting industries have been inable to maintain the rapid pace of expansion set in the early months of the year and the actual decline in their sales must deeply affect the economy as a whole.

During the export boom of the first quarter Mr. Churchill, minister of trade and commerce, assured Parliament that our goods were selling well almost everywhere, that they could hold their own competitively in almost every market. Does he still think that?

Even if our exports maintained the volume of the first quarter they would not keep all our exporting industry operating at full capacity. In that period of boom when, according to Mr. Coyne, we tried to do too much too fast the exporting industries were vastly expanded. To operate at their increased capacity they need to sell much more than they were selling a few years ago. Yet in the second quarter of the year their sales were down from last year's total.

This was hardly surprising in a world market now strongly competitive. We have to sell in competition with many efficient exporting nations like Britain, the United States, West Germany and Japan. And we have yet to feel the full force of Russian competition which ill increase from now on.

When Canadian industrialists warned us that we were pricing ourselves out of foreign markets they were widely accused of plot- LOOSE ENDS ting against the workers. When Mr.

The chief victims of this process are not the employers and the rich but the workers and the poor. Until we can better adjust our costs to markets at home and abroad there will be no real cure for the unemployment problem and no satisfactory growth in the economy as

Money and Elections

DURING THE RECENT SESsion at Ottawa, Mr. John Pickersgill drew attention to the high cost of elections, protested the mounting expense involved in campaigning and suggested legal limits on such expenditures.

The cost of elections—a matter of no small moment in British Columbia at this time-has been the subject of important research in the United States. Mr. Alexander Heard sets out a few interesting figures in his book "The Costs of Democracy," the product of that research.

He precedes these figures with opinion that in contemporary United States politics, money never elects. But, he says, it is indispensable to nomination at the congres-sional and presidential levels. Because Canada follows a different method of choosing its representa-tives, the American findings will scarcely apply to this country

There, according to one strategy conference considering the future of a presidential aspirant. ated a budget of $2,600,000

In 1952 the Citizens for Eisenhower handled about $1,200,000 and organized pre-convention efforts came to $2,500,000, says

As Canada awaits the political developments of the new labor coalition, it is interesting to read that the United Automobile Work-ers in the United States spent an estimated $3,000,000 on politics in 1956—which amounts to $2.50 per union member.

In the near future, Mr. Heard ds, $100,000,000 will be spent annually in all American campaigns, and this will be doubled in presidential years.

These are American figures What applies in that country may not apply generally, even on a population ratio, in Canada. At the same time, some of the elements which are increasing the costs of elections in the United States—the impact of the mass communication for instance-will be felt increasingly in future Canadian contests.

The remarks of Mr. Pickersgill would be needed to assure nomina- in Parliament the other day deserve for work already done to be paid on the serious study indeed.

Towards Men in Space

Office for Civil Servants

TT IS CUSTOMARY TODAY TO view achievements in space by Russia or the United States as advantages gained in the cold war. While this viewpoint is valid in certain particulars, new conquests of space must also be seen as forward steps by mankind as a whole.

Inevitably, what one country learns the rest must eventually know. There can be real sincerity, then, in congratulating the Soviet Union on its success in sending live animals into orbit around the earth and landing them without apparent harm. This constitutes a

I notice from the August 9 issue that a certain family has been terrified great step towards the eventual flight of man in space, and Russia must be accorded full credit for the achievement.

Not to be overlooked, either, is the manner of orbiting the dogs and other living creatures. To place a vehicle weighing four and a half tons into orbit, as the Russians ever, does make mention of "spirits claim, and then to land it un- of devils" which have deceptive and damaged, is a scientific feat that terrifying powers, but it makes clear cannot be duplicated in the West as that there is a stronger power—a power yet.

Only a few vague folk memories of the golden age remain. Some news-papers like The New York Times and The Ottawa Journal employ experts in nostalgia, professional weepers and highly-paid editorial writers who furnish daily pieces about the good old days on the farm, the milking of cows at dawn, the chopping of wood, the making of autumn pickles and all the lost delights of simplicity for subscribers who will read about them in air-conditioned apartments and crowded subways.

THE North American public has an insatiable appetite for nostalgia, a deep yearning for simple things provided it doesn't have to use them, a hunger for bread if it appears as inedible print.

A man with an assured, authentic turn of phrase can make a large income in any city by describing the departed glories of a better time which he never knew, by advocating healthy physical toil on an electric typewriter, by extolling bread without ever tasting it.

But all this fiction and poor counterfeit of reality can't fool an old bread man like Mr. Parker when he catches a

THE first concrete indication that the strain in Sino-Soviet relations may be reaching a breaking point has now been provided by reports from Peking, which passed through the official cen-sorship, that "trainloads" of Soviet ex-perts are leaving China for home.

At the same time the Soviet press has continued and intensified its cam-

These "fools or dogmatists," according to the control of the cont

The Grilse Don't Know

TUESDAY evening I went rowing for exercise off the mouth of Foul Bay. To tify the time I spent on the water that I should have spent digging weeds out of our clay patch, I dragged a fish line.

There was a secondary purpose to my edition. I wanted to know if the grilse under-stood that, come Wednes-day, any under 12 inches long weren't welcome on an angler's line. Either the grilse hadn't heard, or were having a fling before the 12-inch limit went into force. In future I plan to print on my flasher

"Grilse under 12 inches Stott not allowed." If they honor the injunction I won't be catching many fish. When a griles is 12 inches or more long, he's usually smarter than I am. My only hope of catching fish lies in getting them while they're still very young and can't out-think me.

I'm not too optimistic about the sign I plan for my flasher. Very young salmon are virtually illiterate. That's a matter I intend to research later in a book called "Why Grilsie can't read."

In the meantime I'm listening judiciously to the arguments for and against a 12-inch limit. They'll settle the Law of the Sea be fore they reach agreement on that.

The point is that grilse will take hold of anything smaller than a halibut hook and will try a halibut hook itself, if given a

So you go out fishing for salmon and you snag the little ones. It is possible-according to excellent authority—to Iree most grilse from a hook without damaging them to excellent authority-to free most irreparably, but you have to know how to do it. One technique is to wet your hands before you grab the grilse. This stops the human hand from removing too much of the slime which is a protective coating on the It also stops the hand from grasping the fish. Try it sometime.

Frequently, when a fish is removed from the hook it is so injured that it is an easy prey for predators in the sea, even if it doesn't merely float belly-up when you return it to the water.

This is one of the points made by people who say the 12-inch limit is nonsense. They also point to survival statistics. A pair of spawning salmon produce from 1.200 to 2,000 eggs. From that number, it's a lucky generation which sees more than a pair of mature salmon spawning again at the end of the life cycle. The great majority fail to to survive hatching, life as fry and as finger lings in the river before they ever get to the salt chock.

The number taken by anglers through it may be high—over 2,000 were caught on a single day according to a survey made of the Victoria-Saanich area—is not large in proportion to those that perish from other

But, say the people who favor a 12-inch limit, the chances of survival for a fish that has reached grilse size are much greater than are the chances of smaller fingerlings and fry. So, say the 12-inch-limiters, let's give them a break.

Also, add these gentlemen, grilse put on weight and gain, size at a terrific rate when they're feeding. The seven, eight, nine and 10 inchers biting off Foul Bay now will be 12-inchers or more in a couple of onths. Why not leave them until they're size worth catching?

Fine. But as they progress to the footong stage, they move out of 'the locality, Nobody knows exactly where they go, though it is supposed that they travel out to the ocean banks.

That doesn't stop below-limit fish, from grabbing hooks. They'll still be pinching strip and minnows intended for larger salmon. And once they're on a hook, their chances of living to tell about it, even if a law-abiding and kindly-disposed angler frees them, aren't so good.

Well, we can try the sign on the flasher. If that doesn't work there are two alternatives—a hook so big that no fish with a mouth smaller than a cod can swallow it, or no hook at all. The way I don't catch salmon makes the no-book technique as

WASHINGTON (AP)-It's getting so a presidential campaign manager's best friend is his un-

This is no ordinary alley cur slinking about with his tail between his legs. This underdog is a highly bred and unique product of the 1960 U.S. presidential campaign. Campaign managers bristle now when it is suggested that their candidate is ahead of his opponent.

My man is the underdog, they cry, and they try to ove it by any means at hand. Take, for example, a recent national poll which showed Vice-President Nixon running six points ahead of his-Democratic opponent, Senator Kennedy, 50 per cent to

Not Like the Old Days

In the old days this would have been greeted with cheers and triumphal statements from the camp of the man on top, and denounced as false, loaded and otherwise unreliable by supporters of the man trailing. But not this Nixon's campaign strategists decided this wouldn't do at all. Any suggestion Nixon was stuffing the race in the bag might convince volunteer workers there really wasn't any need for all that arduous pavement pounding and door bell ringing.

And, think of how it might button up the pocketbooks of contributors.

So Robert Finch, Nixon's campaign director, and Herbert Klein, his press secretary, rushed into print with statements that the poll was all wrong. Nixon wasn't ahead, they said, only neck-and-neck with Kennedy.

You would have thought Senator Henry Jackson of Washington, the Democratic national chairman, would have been near tears at the poll results.

Instead, he seemed pleased. He agreed there wasn't six points difference between Nixon's and Kennedy's strength. But he looked on the poll as a great thing to

THEIR SEASON

British Columbians are fortunate to have one of the world's finest sources of fresh fruit in their own lush valleys. Here fruit ripens till the last moment so all the natural sugar and flavour remain. These fruits are perfect for preserving, so take advantage of this colourful bounty and preserve B.C. fresh fruits as soon as they arrive at your grocer's.

AN IMPORTANT B.C. INDUSTRY

The fruit farmers of British Columbia are independent business men striving to produce the finest fruit at the lowest possible prices. They contribute over $13,000,000 a year to our economy but their importance cannot be measured in dollars alone. Fruit farming is a vital part of our agricultural industry and B.C. fruit is among the best in the world.

tempting taste of summer that you get from home-made pickled fruit. And it's much easier to do than you think.

Use a stainless steel or enamel preserving kettle with a thick bottom.

Stir with wooden spoons.

Use cider vinegar for best flavour except for pears where white vinegar gives

Use a recipe that calls for cooking in a pickling syrup and letting the fruit rest for 10 to 12 hours in the syrup.

Pickled Peaches

8 cups sugar 4 cups vinegar

1 cup water

2 whole cloves for each peach

6 to 8 pounds B.C. peaches

Boil syrup 10 minutes. Stick cloves in peeled peaches, place in syrup and simmer until just tender (about 5 to 8 minutes). Let stand 12 hours. Put fruit carefully into hot, sterilized jars. Strain syrup. Boil 5 minutes. Pour on fruit and seal jars.

You can use the same method and same recipe for pickled pears, apples and crabapples. Peel, core and quarter apples. Do not peel crabapples which are attractive with the stems left on as well.

Put away several jars of minted pears for special occasions. Make a medium syrup, coloured with green food coloring and flavoured with mint extract (1/2 teaspoon per quart). Pack fruit (whole, halved, quartered) in jars. Cover with hot syrup and process 25 minutes in boiling water bath.

Prune-plum Chutney

1 pound B.C. green apples, pared, cored and quartered

2 buds garlic, minced 2 cups vinegar

1 tablespoon ginger ½ teaspoon cayenne pepper

1 large onion, chopped 1/2 cup water

1 teaspoon cloves

1 teaspoon salt Cook slowly till thick, stirring often. Seal in hot, sterilized jars. Or use parawax as for jelly. Makes 5 pints.

COAST GOLFERS NAMED TO WORLD CUP SQUAD

TORONTO (CP)-A four-man team headed by Keith Alexander, 30, of Calgary, winner of the Canadian Ama-teur at Ottawa last week, was named Wednesday to represent Canada in the world amateur team golf championship at Philadelphia Sept. 28 to Oct. 1.

Others are Gary Cowan, 21, of Toronto, runner-up in the Amateur; John Johnston, 35, of Vancouver, 1959 Amateur champion, and Bob Wylie, 30, of Calgary, 1960 Alberta amateur champion.

Ron Willey, 25, of Vancouver, Pacific Northwest Amateur champ this year, will go along as first alternate.

The world competition, played every second year, is a 72-hole tournament with the three best scores counted for each team. Australia won the 1958 inaugural event which Canada finished sixth among 29

ANOTHER SLANT

ROME (UPI)-While most experts are looking to worldrecord breaking sprinter Harry Jerome as Canada's chief gold medal hope, don't overlook the Maple Leaf equestrian

Germany, Sweden, Italy and England dominated the Stockholm Olympics and are expected to do it again here in Rome But Canada's "weekend riders" are solid darkhorses. And their coach, Maj. Anatole Pieregorodzki, a natole pie tive of Warsaw, Poland, who has been coaching and riding in Canada since 1949, is highly optimistic.

in Canada since 1949, is highly optimistic.

"There is no doubt at all in my mind that Canada has the perfect combination to produce Olympic medal winners in equestrian events—riders and horses," he said. "The important thing is that they must be developed, trained and prepared in every respect in order to compete among the best in the world."

Canada is pinning its hopes on the toughest of eques-trian events, the gruelling three-day team event.

"The five Teronto men we chose are sure to give Canada a strong team—the Elder brothers, Norman and Jim,
Brian Herbinson, Tom Gayford and John Rumble. This same team won the gold medal at the Pan-American Games

This is a remarkable showing for a nation that has been competing in the three-day event only since the 1952 Olympics. Four years later at Melbourne, Canada won a bronze medal in the competition and then won the gold medal at the Pan-Am Games.

medal at the Pan-Am Games.

The three-day event is to equestrian competition what the decathlon is to track and field. Many experts consider this is the most gruelling competition of all in the Olympics. It includes seven different phases entailing a dressage test, an endurance test of 22 miles, including 2½ mile steeple-chase on the second day and a five-mile cross-country race. chase on the second day and a five-mile cross-country race with a 33 to 36 jumps plus a standing jumping test on the final day.

'Weekend Riders' Do Rather Well

"In the 1956 Olympics," Pieregorodzki said, "Canada was the only country out of 21 nations which completed the course without a single fall or any other trouble.

"When our team competed at Madison Square Garden in New York last winter, some of the reporters called the Canadians weekend riders." Pieregorodzki said. "Everybody realizes that our riders are all working while most of the other international equestrian competitors spend most the other international equestrian competitors spend most of their time riding and training or competing in Europe every Sunday . . . which our boys can't afford.

"I guess in comparison to other nations we are 'weekend riders,' But they won the Prix De Nations Cup and the international championships at Madison Square Garden and also the three-event gold medal at the Pan-American Games, which is pretty good for 'weekend riders,'" the Canadian coach added.

The Canadian equestrian team looks like this:

Herbinson—Brian is 29 and another member of Can-ada's gold medal team at Chicago and also the 1956 Olympic team that won a bronze medal at Stockholm. Rumble—He was a member of the 1952 Olympic team at Helsinski but food poisoning prevented him from competing. But at the 1956 Games, he scored the best among the Canadian riders. He is also especially experienced in the three-day event. He is also especially especially that the three-day event. He is 28.

James Elder—A member of Canada's international jumping team for the past three years, he, too, is from Toronto, and Canada's 1956 bronze medal Olympic team, and the 1959 gold medal Pan-American team. He is 26.

Norman Elder-Jim's 21-year-old younger brother and a student at Western Ontario University. In his first international experience at the 1959 Pan-American Games, he was an individual bronze medal winner.

The International Swimming Federation wiggled out of a ticklish situation this week—it ruled out bikinis in the Olympics.

The Czechs brought the subject up. They proposed elimination of the rule which sets certain standards for the cut of a girl's swim suit.

The federation voted a prim "no."

"Our rule on swim suits isn't extreme," said Max Ritter, U.S. member of the executive board. "We say they should go so high under the armpits, so low in back and should be in one piece."

Many swimmers—excluding apparently the Czechs were not disturbed by the attitude of the federation.

They stated that, as the party could not afford to run a candidate, voters should register their opposition to Capitalism by writing across their ballots the words: "Socialism-Production for Use."

Skirt Sale Helps Balance Teen-Agers' Dress Budgets By PENNY SAVER

Like most mothers of teen age daughters it seems to me that these young ladies are continually adding to their stocks of skirts, no matter whether they like the straight variety or have given their affection to the fully-pleated reversible

s. Whatever the color or shape—they never have enough! With pre-school and college buying in full swing you'll be pleased to know that beautifully made reversible skirts, whose full pleats have all been hand blocked, are now on sale. They come in a variety of color combinations and in every type of plaid imaginable. Ones that now sell at $7.98 were originally priced anywhere from $9.98 to $12.98, while others, selling at $10.98 have been reduced from $18.95. Sizes are from 10 to 18. from 10 to 18.

For less than $5 ($4.98 to be exact) your daughter can get herself another type of skirt that will give her many months of hard wear. I'D LIKE TO TELL YOU about the 'perfect mixer' refreshing for summer meals. It's MIRACLE WHIP, the light, light salad dressing that's the life of many a hot-weather menu. Yes, Miracle Whip is the good taste in all the best-tasting salads and sandwich fillings. That's because its unique flavour enhances other flavours.

. never, never overwhelms them. Because Miracle Whip is so popular it's always fresh when you buy it. and the best way to buy it, I've found, is in the big, evonomical 32-ounce jar.

THE "ALL OCCASION" CRACKER — that's what I call Mc-CORMICK'S VERY THIN SALTHNES. At our house we serve them so many ways, there just doesn't seem to be any end to the things you can do with these new very thin Saltines by McCormick's. Youngsters love them—with soup, just plain, or with kiddies special favourite—peanut butter. And McCormick's Very Thin Saltines don't cost a penny more than ordinary crackers and because they stay fresh so long they are economical as well as a treat. McCormick's special "Flavour Guard" Inner Pack is the secret of the long lasting freshness. The individual quarter pound sections make them so convenient.

Like most viewers I have heard Dr. Toynb before on CBC television. But never have I heard him so illuminating, so thoroughly understandable.

The comparisons of religions must be considered a distinct triumph for Canadian television. It should be repeated soon in order that those who found it impossible to digest during the first run may have an other opportunity. It should be repeated certainly for all those who were unable to see it the first time.

Highway Claims Of Gaglardi Denied By CCF

NANAIMO (CP)-The CCF candidate for Nanaimo and The Islands, said Wednesday Highways Minister Gaglardi had made false statements about the Social Credit government's highway program.

"Mr. Gaglardi should start telling the people the truth,' said Colin Cameron.

Mr. Cameron charged it was not true that B.C. has the largest highway construction program of any province, a statement attributed to the minister in Nelson Tuesday.

The CCF candidate said B.C.'s plan to spend $65,000,000 on highways this year and next compares with $253,000,-000 for the same period in On

REVOLUTIONARY TRIAL FOR PRIEST IN CUBA

HAVANA (UPI)-A Roman Catholic priest wounded in an incident outside Havana last week will be brought before one of Fidel Castro's revolutionary tribunals as an anti-government conspir-ator; informed sources said today.

Father Marcial Bedoya, a Spanish Jesuit, is interned in Havana Hospital with a leg wound. He would be the first member of the priesthood to face "revolutionary justice."

The government was, maintaining official silence about the Bedoya case, but reliable sources said the Jesuit was arrested with a group of "counter-revolutionaries" driving from Havana to the northern coast of Pinar Del Rio province to pick up an illicit arms shipment.

ASK The TIMES

Q. I put my fork down the other day to say a few words at dinner, and the remainder of my meal was whisked away.

A. Years ago it was considered impolite to remove plates until the last guest had finished eating. Then came a couple of decades of speed, which re-quired that as soon as the fork was laid down the plate was removed. This meant that the entire table would be clean and set for the next course (quickly). Today, however, slow eaters have come into their own once again; food is removed only when finished, or finished

Smuggling Racket Arrests

TORONTO (CP) -Three prominent members of Toronto's Chinese community were arrested_at RCMP in connection with the smuggling of Chinese nationals into Canada durthe last 10 years.

Charged were William C. Wong, Kent Lee, 59, and George Chan, 49.

Wong, former editor of the Shing Wah Daily News, chairman of the Chinese Community Centre and an executive member of the Chinese tionalist Centre, led a delega-tion to Ottawa in June to pro-test RCMP raids on the homes of Chinese. His home was not raided at the time.

Lee, owner of China Trad-ing Company, is treasurer of the Chinese Community Centres of Ontario.

JUSTICE OF PEACE

Mr. Chan is a justice of the peace, a notary public, gration consultant and travel

Their arrests followed the arrest of 10 other persons in four other Canadian cities during the last month, (See page 5.)

Police charge that in 1950 and 1951 Mr. Wong aided two brothers to enter Canada illegally.

They said that Seto Lee Yee, Wong's employee, has two sons in China and that he paid $3,100 for their birth papers which were sold in turn to a Montreal uncle of the brothers for $7,000.

Chan and Lee are jointly charged with conspiring to procure the illegal entry of Wong Yiu who has been in Canada since June of last year.

A-WEAPONS FOR GERMAN WARSHIPS?

LONDON (Reuters) - Gen. Lauris Norstad has asked the Western Europe Council to increase the permitted tonnage of West German navy vessels to allow ships to carry nuclear weapon launchers, a well-in-formed source said Wednesday.

Norstad, supreme allied commander for NATO in Europe, asked the increase above the present limit of 3,500 tons.

No formal application from West Germany asking the in-crease has been received by WEC headquarters here.

SOMMERS CASE 'TABOO' BONNER TELLS HECKLER

VANCOUVER (CP)-Attorney-General Bonner told a questioner Wednesday night the Sommers case is not a proper subject for debate in the Sept. 12 provincial election campaign.

Mr. Bonner had been asked to explain his handling of charges against former Lands and Forests Minister Sommers, who now is serving a five-year sentence after being convicted of conspiracy and accepting bribes.

"Only a political party bankrupt of principles would raise a question of that kind in this election," Mr. Bonner replied.

Most of the 160 persons present at the meeting in Mr. Bonner's Vancouver Point Grey riding applauded loudly when the attorney-general made his swift reply.
